Mission of Organization (Purpose and Goals): The California Consumer Affairs Association exists to help consumer protection leaders. Mission: To promote consumer protection for Californians through education, collaboration, and advocacy. Vision: Californians are empowered with access to consumer protection, a fair marketplace, and fair business practices.

History of Organization and Time of Existence:

Established in 1974, CCAA is a non-profit 501(c)3 association of federal, state and local government and non-profit consumer protection organizations. CCAA provides a platform for its members to work together in assisting consumers, including:

- Identifying top consumer frauds and emerging issues, and understanding the impact they have on consumers and the marketplace.
- Training on detecting, preventing and remedying consumer fraud and issues.
- Promoting new collaborative opportunities and strengthening existing partnerships.
- Strategizing on developing and implementing new consumer protection initiatives.
